"Police Officer Positions Available"

Are you ready for a career that's more than a job? Police Captain Mike Bauer thinks it's a good time to consider being a police officer as the Norfolk Nebraska Police Division will soon be filling three positions.

"Few careers are as rewarding as law enforcement. Police officers spend their days protecting and serving their local community and are motivated by working for something greater than themselves," said Bauer.

Bauer added the Norfolk police officer positions offer an attractive health and benefit package with opportunity for advancement.

"No two days are the same for a police officer thanks to a wide variety of job duties.

It's a fulfilling job that officers are proud to work at for many years," Bauer said. He added that if a person is hired by the Norfolk Police Division and is not a certified police officer, the police division will pay for their training at the Grand Island Law Enforcement Academy.

Bauer encourages anyone interested in becoming a Norfolk Police Officer to go to www.ci.norfolk.ne.us/humanresources for more information.
