NORFOLK NAMED A TOP SAFE CITY IN 2017

The City of Norfolk earned marks as one of the top ten safest cities in Nebraska and top 101 safest cities in the country, as part of SafeHome.org's 2017 List of the Safest Cities.

Norfolk ranked eighth in the state of Nebraska and in the 25th percentile in the United States as a whole. The study was conducted by SafeHome.org, a group of home security experts. Similar studies have been done in the past; however, SafeHome.org went a step further and utilized a variety of data sources, including the FBI's latest report of how many and what types of crimes occurred, crime trends and other data points to come up with their scoring.

According to the SafeHome.org data, Norfolk has one of the highest officer-to-citizen ratios in the state and saw its violent crime rate decrease by more than 28 percent over the last year.
